

Social work students have joined MedZou's Preventative Health Team as community support specialists to serve patients who have non-medical needs. We collaborate closely with prevention specialists to achieve the mission of MedZou and strengthen the partnership with the Integrative Behavioral Health Clinic. Together with our community partners across various health-related disciplines, we aim to improve access to primary health care and promote social and economic justice by advocating on behalf of our patients regarding access to medical care and other basic needs.
